Creating Wildfire Defensible Space

Help save your home from a wildfire and comply with the law by creating effective defensible space. This workshop will help you understand the legal requirements and how to implement them on your property. Learn how the slope variable affects your horizontal clearance and how to balance fire safety and stewardship goals such as wildlife habitat. Landscaping inside the home ignition zone will also be discussed.

The Changing Fire Insurance World—Are You Covered?

The insurance market in the Wildland Urban Interface (WUI) is rapidly changing. It is becoming more difficult to qualify for coverage if you live in a high severity fire zone – which is most of Nevada County! This course will provide instruction on steps you can take to ensure you will be covered. Learn about the components of your policy, how to evaluate if you have enough coverage and shop for the best package.

Clean & Safe Residential Burning

Creating a clean and safe burn is essential with strict air quality regulations and the health impacts from smoke nuisances. Escaped vegetative burns are the financial responsibility of the resident and a common cause of wildfires. This course will cover air quality regulations, enforcement, proper site and material preparation, effective burning techniques and alternatives to burning.

Land Management Contracting

This workshop will assist you in issues relating to properly managing your land. You will learn the difference between a Registered Professional Forester, Licensed Timber Operator, Landscape Contractors and masticators. Each profession requires a different level of education and some are licensed and some are not. These are important factors in clearing your land and contracting for completion that can cost you thousands of dollars if not properly addressed.

Robert Ingram, Registered Professional Forester
